LAN	Susie Gutenberger	2,000					On behalf of Lansing Community Library, I want to thank the Finger Lakes Library System for its continued support through collection development funding. For a small library like ours, these funds make a real difference in what we can offer our community. FLLS collection development money allows us to buy much-needed nonfiction and large-type titles. These books tend to cost more and are harder for us to add within our regular budget, yet they are some of the most requested items on our shelves. Our nonfiction collection serves patrons who are researching health questions, learning new skills, exploring history, or simply following their curiosity. Our large-type collection is just as important, especially for older readers and patrons with low vision who depend on these editions to keep reading. This year, we also plan to update our board book collection. Many of our board books have been loved by countless little hands and are now looking quite worn. Fresh, sturdy books for our youngest patrons help families build early literacy habits and make the library a welcoming place from the very start. We are truly grateful for your support. It helps us keep our collection current, meet the needs of readers of every age, and continue serving Lansing as a vital community resource. With appreciation, Susie Gutenberger Fitzpatrick Director, Lansing Community Library
